Report on “Communicative and Functional English”

During the academic session 2022-2023, the Department of English, Acharya Sukumar Sen Mahavidyalaya organised a highly successful certificate course on “Communicative and Functional English” from 01.09.2022, to 29.09.2022. Supervised by the experienced coordinator Dr. Pritesh Chakraborty, the initiative aimed to instill a deep understanding of the ethics and logistics of content writing among the students. One of the major objectives of this programme is to improve participants’ confidence in speaking, listening, reading and writing in English. Dr. Pritesh Chakraborty noted that the programme garnered significant interest, drawing participants from various disciplines within the college, thereby highlighting the course’s multidisciplinary relevance. Additionally, the course touched upon the participants’ career prospects in the IT sector and also in the publishing industry. Apart from that, the course aimed to make students aware of different content related jobs which are in demand, like those of text authors, media authors, translators, technical writers, instructional designers etc. The success of the program highlighted the departments’ commitment to providing holistic education and fostering versatile skills among its students.
